FOREWORD

Throughout high school, the presence of books has always been the dominating factor of our education. Without books as teaching and learning aids, we never could have increased our knowledge as much as we have. "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested; that is, some books are to be read only in parts; others to be read, but not curiously; and some few to be read wholly, and with diligence and attention."

The opening of a book opens pathways to adventure, to science, to the real and the fictional and to the languages. Sometimes, illustrations and photographs accent the highlights of a book or illuminate the unexplainable. No matter what the subject, books are sentinels of our storehouse of knowledge.

As you open the 1964 Lion's Roar and leaf through its pages, the chronicle of our history unfolds. "Read not to contradict and confute; . . . nor to find talk and discourse; but to weigh and to consider" . . . through pictures and sketches of our four years spent at West Boylston Jr.-Sr. High School. Let this book awaken memories in the years to come.

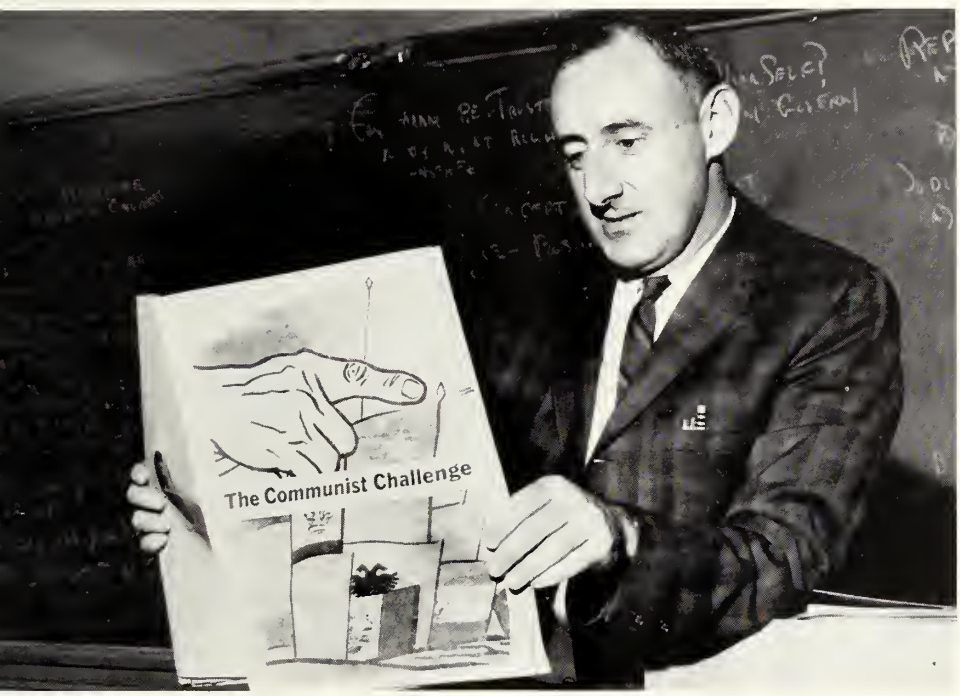
DEDICATION

We, the class of 1964, wish to dedicate this edition of the Lion's Roar to a man who has been both a teacher and an advisor to us in our four years of high school. He is constantly striving to overcome whatever barriers may face him and is usually successful. His patience and interest in every student have given us confidence to reach for the highest goals in life.

Therefore, to express our sincere gratitude and fond appreciation, we present the first copy of the 1964 Lion's Roar to Mr. John A. Case.



"In order to defeat Communism it is necessary to understand its philosophy, goals, and tactics . . ."

Every week we eagerly awaited the distribution of our Time magazines.

FACULTY

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL:

Seemingly, the years pass by with greater rapidity and again another class has completed its stay with us. May I offer my sincere congratulations to all of you and trust that your associations have been as enriching and profitable as they always have been to us.

I cannot help but remark here how wonderfully heart-warming my years have been with you. In a world beset with constant p roblems, it has always been extremely rewarding to me to be associated with our "citizens of tomorrow." I have confidence in you; I know it will be justified. I do not hold with the discouraging remarks made in some circles about our youth today. I have watched you mature—I have watched you absorb knowledge—I have seen you too, mystified and perplexed by the various difficulties associated with becoming young men and women. To me you are a wonderful generation. You have the qualities we look for in our youth . . . qualities that give us confidence for tomorrow.

Your final year in school here was marked by a national tragedy. You will constantly associate this with your graduation year. We shall not forget it . . . but perhaps even in remembrance, we can all try to have an even more sympathetic understanding for our fellow men . . . and remember that kindness, tolerance and understanding will always serve us well in our future lives. Ours should not be the bold disregard for our fellow men; it should not be the frantic pace which may lead to unhappiness. Rather we should lead lives of dedication to our fellow men . . . lives which are filled with the sense of well being we obtain from service to others.

Our faculty and our administration wish you well. May your lives continue in a path which will lead you to full and rewarding years.

Mr. Charles N. LaPrade

CLASS HISTORY

SONNET 61

We entered as lowly Freshmen, full of hope,
Always told that we had plenty of potential.
So through the halls we began to grope,
Our task, we knew, was monumental.

Dennis Bean to us seemed Presidential,
And Jean Nash as Vice-President seemed okay.
Sue Young appeared to be very Secretarial,
And Sandy Cummings and Janet Howe were in until next May.

In sports our class performed very well.
Nick and Patty showed this in their exemplary play.
Our class would be extra-special, that you could tell,
The faculty was already praising us in every way.

As our infant class peered ahead to next year,
The visages of tremendous times were to all very clear.

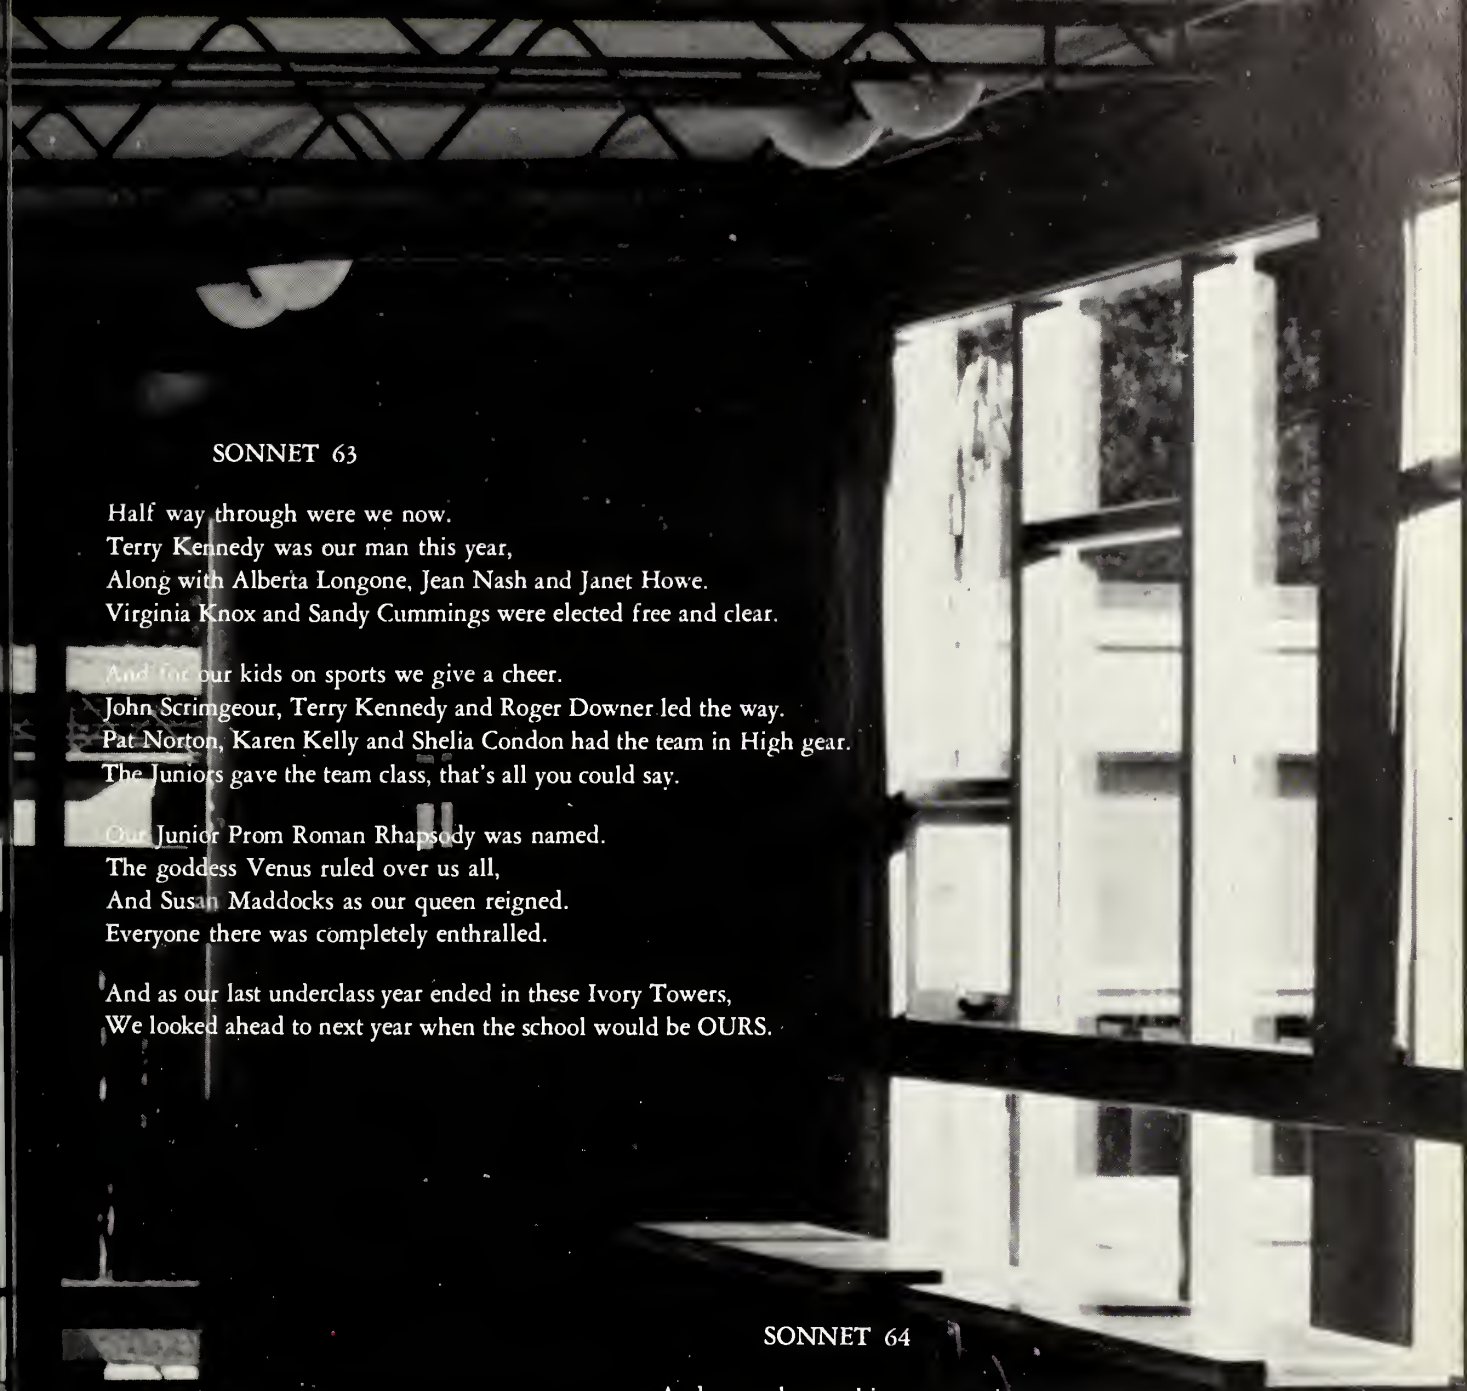
SONNET 62

Back to school again we came.
And our President, Terry Kenny, [illegible] chose
Jean Nash and Gail Gibson added their names.
Along with Sandy Cummings, Dubois Quest and Janet Howe's.

In sports our contenders to the top rose,
As shown by Carl Dupre, Terry Kennedy and Joe Chase,
And accompained by Pat Norton, Diane Dymek and Donna Holm.
The girls, as can be seen, also brought us no disgrace.

And with May the man from Balfour took his place,
To take orders for those treasured rings.
We knew our fingers these rings would always grace.
More than any other of our beloved things.

And so another year June brought to an end,
To be mighty Juniors we would now ascend.



SONNET 63

Half way through were we now.
Terry Kennedy was our man this year,
Along with Alberta Longone, Jean Nash and Janet Howe.
Virginia Knox and Sandy Cummings were elected free and clear.

And for our kids on sports we give a cheer.
John Scrimgeour, Terry Kennedy and Roger Downer led the way.
Pat Norton, Karen Kelly and Shelia Condon had the team in High gear.
The Juniors gave the team class, that's all you could say.

Our Junior Prom Roman Rhapsody was named.
The goddess Venus ruled over us all,
And Susan Maddocks as our queen reigned.
Everyone there was completely enthralled.

And as our last underclass year ended in these Ivory Towers,
We looked ahead to next year when the school would be OURS.

SONNET 64

And so we began this our most important year,
With the election of Peter Rotando as our President.
David Almstrom and Virginia Knox were also right up there,
And well for Janet Howe, Susan Boo and Nick Spiro the election went.

In sports again the Seniors were on the scent,
With Terry Kennedy, Carl Dupre and Joe Chase.
Karen Kelly, Pat Norton and Andrea Shusta were bent,
Towards taking first in every meet and race.

Our Senior Ball, "Blue Heaven", took its place,
As the very best ever presented by a Class.
And all those in attendance had a taste,
Of good music and fun which in their memories shall always last.

So now we end our high school revelations,
And head joyously on towards graduation.

CLASS PROPHECY

TIME: 1984

SCENE: World Fair

It is early afternoon when our helicopter, piloted by David Holmes, touches down on the heliport of the Century 22 Exposition. Disembarking, we are escorted to the monorail by Wayne Almstrom. Before we reach our seats, we are hurled backwards with tremendous force from the acceleration. In the driver's compartment sits Eddie Atchue, listening to the purr of the engine. We also meet Burton Quist, who offers to guide us through the fair grounds.

First he showed us to the Gyroscope, a revolving restaurant Here we met Jimmy Hamilton who operates the capsule-elevator. Upon reaching the main floor, Karen Lee greeted us and showed us to a table. Seated across from us were Kenny Quist and Ginny Knox who were being waited upon by Kathy Nolan. Noel-Sydney Williams served us one of Peter Rotando's specialties. Entertainment was provided by Sharon Scales and Paula Scher.

Burton then took us to the West Boylston Science Pavilion where we saw Professor Carl "Flash" Dupre's exhibit on "Radioactive Toothpaste." Bev Clark's "Kibitzogram" was surrounded by high school and college students. Sam Berry and Danny Robinson had produced a computer that turned out completed homework assignments for any subject.

At the Pavilion of Commerce and Industry, Secretary of Commerce Kenny Ricardi was expounding on "Interstate Relations" to a group of Brownies.

After a hasty retreat, we were almost run down by Ricky Lloyd and David Almstrom on their motor-scooters. Jumping out of the way, we knocked down Roger Downer and his ice cream cart.

Selling tickets outside the Coliseum were Eileen DePatsy and Nancy Bosowski. Inside, four members of the Woman's Olympic Basketball Team were demonstrating their skills. We watched Diane Dymek dunking the ball, Lois Howard's fancy dribbling, Aggie Hagopian's foul shooting, and Gretchen Hiller's great defensive playing. Looking on was their nationally acclaimed coach, Pat Norton, and her assistant, Judy Whitcomb. The U. S. representatives of the Olympic Track Team were also there. Bob Brown did the high jump, and Bob Ryan ran the 220. Doug Rice was about to try to better his world record in the shot put. In another part of the building we noticed Terry Kennedy, captain of the gymnastics team, going over his act. The cheerleaders—Andrea Shusta, Janet Howe, and Ruth Almstrom—boosted everyone's morale with their original cheers.

Burton then showed us to the Art Exposition where he attempted to explain several modern drawings by Naureen Gardner and Sandy Cummings. Ronnie Markiewicz, and Karen Edwards had done a stormy picture, called "Harmony." Suzanne Griswold was drawing a moustache and beard on a portrait of Anne Goodale.

We next proceeded to the "Home of Hair Design," owned by Mary Navaroli. Modeling the latest hairstyles were Karen Scales, Darlene Gambacinni, and Barbara Nolan.

Our next stop was the Future Playhouse, where we watched Carolyn Beckett starring in "Macbeth," directed by Pam Pelton. We stayed until Act III was completed and then continued on.

We then spied the Kastberg Hall of Music, and decided to stop in. Performing was the West Boylston Metropolitan Symphony Orchestra conducted by Stephen Hermes. Prominent members were Diana Klar on the xylophone, Barbara Prentice on the honky-tonk piano, Jane DeWitt on the saxophone, and Hank McCarthy on the flute. They were playing Everett LePoer's famous overture, "Take a Break, Larry," dedicated to Larry Leger, a longtime friend and companion throughout their school career.

After leaving the Music Hall, we met Marcus Halkola in his oil truck. He was returning from the Automotive Exhibit and informed us of the various displays in the show. We decided to see it for ourselves and directed our guide to lead us there. Automotive engineers from all over the world were demonstrating their dream cars of the future. The mechanics included Kent Dzvasian, who had invented a new kind of parking light; Tom Heath, an expert on tire care; and David Moore, who had made a radio that amplified static. Mike Pichierri was the President of the Automotive Association by popular vote.

The Educational Department was next on the agenda. Entering the building, we met Karen Kelly, Superintendent of Education, who had taken this job because she had always liked the younger set. She led us through the different rooms where internationally famous teachers demonstrated their work. Sally Johnson taught History, Diane Ekberg—English, Karen Mayhew—home economics, and Virginia Hapakoski—business administration.

After walking for a while, Joe Chase showed signs of fatigue after having had a big night. (He should have gone out for cross-country). So we immediately proceeded to the emergency hospital located nearby. Here we were greeted by Bob Prescott and Don Holmes, dressed in their sterile, white uniforms of ambulance drivers. Diagnosing the situation, they ordered Joe to a ward where Joe Scanlon treated him for an acute case of exhaustion. The nurses, Donna Holm and Alberta Longone, were on duty. We left Joe in the safe and experienced hands of Head Nurse, Jean Nash.

Later, after visiting a few more places we came back to the hospital to pick up Joe. By now his room was decorated with flowers from Dennis Parker's Florist Shop. He had developed a liking for his treatment, and, only with a lot of coaxing, were we able to convince Joe to return with us.

On the way back we were stopped by a paperboy whom we recognized as Dennis Vaudreuill. He was selling papers edited by Robin Salter from his newest Galaxie XL. We bought a paper to find out more about the Fair. While glancing through it, we noticed that Jane Tipton had been chosen Queen.

Upon starting back to the Heliport, we came across a souvenir shop operated by Lois Wood and Diane Smith. Entering, we noticed Karen Swenson and Donna Prescott looking at the latest space perfumes. Linda Putnam and Johna Carlson were trying to resist the sales pitch of the owners, but were losing.

We finally reached the Heliport, boarded a copter, and took off. As we ascended, we got a panoramic view of the whole fairgrounds. Standing out in the arena, we watched the night clean-up committee, headed by John Scrimgeour and his one man crew of Gerry LaComfora, slowly collecting the debris discarded by the day's crowd.

ACTIVITIES

Pam Pelton is crowned queen of the Senior Ball.

On November 27, 1963, the Senior Class presented "Blue Heaven." Through the efforts of all the committees, the evening was a great success.

To the enchanted music by the Commodores, the couples whirled through a simulated paradise. Large, puffy parachutes, hung from the ceiling, were used as clouds. Bared, silver-sprayed trees, draped with tinsel, glittered around the gym.

The high spot of the night came with the crowning of Pam Pelton as queen and selection of the court: Pat Norton, Jean Nash, Sharon Scales, and Lee Warren.

"Roman Rhapsody"

The queen and her court

May 3rd, 1963, was the climax of our Junior year. That evening, some eighty-seven junior couples danced to the music of the Commodores, at our prom, "Roman Rhapsody."

Everyone helped to make this evening a success by transforming the gym into a mythological night in Rome. Based on our theme, we encircled the dance floor with large towering pillars of white. Using the traditional blue and white streamers to drape over each pillar, a Roman sky was created. The statures of Venus and Cupid turned our thoughts to the ancient Colosseum which lies in ruin today. The resplendent mural pictured distant Roman temples.

Towards the end of the evening, Miss Susan Maddocks was crowned queen beneath the towering columns by our principal Mr. LaPrade. Faith Daly, Sharon Hilton, Barbara Huke and Cheryl Lutka were chosen as members of the court.

The 1963-64 school year turned out to be quite a busy and rewarding one for our Student Council. The Council worked with the many new ideas brought back from the National Student Council Convention in Ann Arbor, Michigan, by its President, Janet Howe, who attended as a delegate this past summer. The most important of these projects was the adoption of an orphan, a twelve-year old girl from Taiwan.

As well as actively concerning itself with school affairs, the Council also supported the district and state associations by acting as host for the Central Division Fall Convention which was a great success.

The Council wishes to express its thanks to Mr. Griffin and Miss Scopelliti for their invaluable assistance during the past year.

At last we've reached our Junior year, anxiously awaiting the "big" one. The profits gained from our candy sale and the concession stand at the basketball games went toward our prom, "Tara." A riotous Junior-Senior basketball game, new this year, exhibited an unprecedented show of school spirit, and we hope to make it an annual affair. We were especially well-represented in sports with the starting five on the basketball team—John Bancroft, Dave Lindberg, "Ed" Fisher, Pete Hollis, and Bob Benedict, backed up by Steve LaCilla, Bob Zickell, Ron Beachy, and "Smitty" Smith. Six girls were members of the Field Hockey team and four were on the Cheerleading Squad.

Our thanks go to Mr. Griffin, Miss Wright, Mr. Case, and Mr. Samalanskas who have helped us through this trying year.

The class of 1966 is proud to be a part of West Boylston High. During this year our main money-making activity was a Halloween dance. The class worked as a whole to make it a success. The money is very important and will be put to good use in our Junior and Senior years. We were very well represented in sports, both girls and boys. Bonnie Erickson, Ellen St. George, Judy Lavigne, Linda Austin, Janet Soule, Carol Noyes, Janet Cooper, and Diane Sepavich showed great potential in basketball and field hockey while Gary Shannon, Guy Metcalf, John Gier, Bob Johnson, Paul Gremo, Chris Kelly, Jim Forleo, Orin Merrill, Kevin Kennedy and Tommy Zickell did the same in cross country and basketball.

We are looking forward to our Junior year and our prom.

Our Freshman year has been one of the busiest of our school life. Our dependable officers acted ably in helping make our major activity, "The Witches Wobble," a great success. Many were active in sports; among them: Paul Shepherd, Glenn Hermes, Dwight Howe, Jack Seib, Walter Klar, Susan Rickley, Kathy O'Connor, Nancy Gebhart, Gloria Austin, Paulette Conforti, and Kerry Glynn and Sandy Flynn as cheerleaders.

We thank our class advisors and the Seniors for their guidance in our first year of high school.

Lots of Frenchmen in our class.

SPORTS

CROSS COUNTRY

Sitting: W. Klar, R. Castonquay. First Row: B. Fisher, J. Scrimgeour, S. Berry, C. Dupre, R. Benedict, D. Lindberg, P. Karras. Second Row: coach, A. Weller, D. Rosis, J. Shusta, D. McCool, K. Kennedy, G. Metcalf, G. Hermes, D. Harding, manager, P. Jacobson.

The 1963 Lions brought West Boylston its second cross country championship. The team staggered at the start of the season, losing three of its first four meets. Then the team found itself and won seven straight. The season was highlighted by shocking undefeated Nipmuc to win the Class C championship at the Wauchusett Invitational Meet. The season was ended in grand style by nearly shutting out Uxbridge on their own course. Strangely, this was the only time that the Lions took first place in a race during the entire season. The team, running in a tight pack, several times sacrificed the first two positions only to take the next seven places to win the meet.

The basketball team completed another successful season compiling a record of thirteen wins and eight losses. Ably led by co-captains Joe Chase and Roger Downer, the Lions launched the season by winning four and losing two of the non-league contests. League play began on a dismal note as the team lost three of the first five games. The Lions suddenly became giant killers by defeating Millbury and unbeaten Algonquin. West Boylston ended the season with another successful invasion of the Clark Tournament. This is the second year in a row that the team has won the runner-up trophy.

The Lions, under the capable leadership of coach Ronald Elkind and co-captains John Peterson and Ken Quist, have completed another highly successful season on the diamond. The team started hot, winning three games against an eleven to five defeat to Millbury which was avenged later in the season by a five to four victory. The height of the season was the Grafton game. The pitchers for both teams threw fantastic one-hit ball with West Boylston catching the short end of a one to nothing heartbreaking defeat. The Lions twice defeated a tough Uxbridge nine as well as chalking up double victories against Tahanto, Westboro, and Sutton. The team split with Millbury and Algonquin and were defeated twice only by the powerful Grafton team. The Lions also defeated Holy Name in the one game that was played between these two schools.

Spring Track entered West Boylston's domain for the first time in 1963. Although short of victories, which is expected in the trial year, the team showed flashes of great things to come in the future. The team was plagued by a lack of proper field facilities which caused all but one of the seven meets to be played away, a great disadvantage against the powerful established teams of the league. Still the Lions threw a scare into several teams. Many times only a few points would have made the difference between victory and defeat. Only one of fourteen lettermen leaves via graduation leaving coach Arnold Weller with a solid team for his second season.

The young tennis team left a never-to-be-forgotten first impression on its opponents. The Lions of the court scored three victories against only four defeats and one tie, which is a truly remarkable record for a first year team. Capable leadership was provided by seniors Dave Blake and Ron Robinson and coach Ralph Pendleton. The season was launched with a tie match with Fitchburg. Later in the year the same Fitchburg team was soundly defeated by the ever-improving Lions. Gardner fell to defeat twice before the team. Only Algonquin and powerful teams from Worcester Acedemy and Assumption Preparatory escaped without a loss. All but two lettermen return leaving an experienced team for the coming year.

FIELD HOCKEY

VARSITY: Kneeling: J. Howe, D. Holm, K. Edwards, A. Shusta, K. Kelly, P. Norton (Co-Capt.). Standing: D. Seib, S. Belacki, K. Atchue, C. Lowell (Mgr.), J. Lavigne, E. St. George, B. Erickson, coach, F. Webster.

The varsity girls, started off this season with a defeat, but they soon got going. After a 0-0 game with Uxbridge, they defeated Algonquin, Grafton, and Nipmuc. Again they played Millbury, and again were defeated, although this time by a smaller margin. Of the remaining four games, they won three and tied one. The senior girls will leave this school having left a good record which will be hard to match. Janet Donna, Karen, Andrea, Pat and Karen all were key factors in the field hockey successes of the past four years. All the girls want to express their great appreciation to Mrs. Webster. It was through her urging them on, that their season ended so successfully.

The J.V. girls didn't have a very successful season win-wise; but the experience they gained is an essential factor which makes them good and worthy candidates for the Varsity next year.

J.V.: Kneeling: K. Leonardi, J. Soule, M. Davis, E. Miller, S. St. George, N. Ela, W. Balcom, Captain. Standing: Coach, F. Webster, G. Austin, K. O'Connor, D. Johnson, J. Bissell, L. Kriegstrom, B. Allen, S. Austin, I. Smedberg, Manager.

The girls' basketball team underwent a "building year" this season. Although very few games were won, the girls learned good sportsmanship which is the prime purpose of the sport.

Co-captains Karen Edwards, and Karen Kelly along with Diane Dymek, Agnes Hagopian and a few underclassmen all played very well. The leading scorer, Pat Norton, was lost to the team early in the season with torn ligaments; this was a great blow to both Pat and the team.

The team wishes to express its thanks to Mrs. Webster for her time, effort and patience throughout the entire season.

JUNIOR VARSITY: Kneeling: C. Noyes (Co-capt.), K. O'Connor (Co-capt.) Standing: J. Thwing, N. Gebhart, S. Rickley, B. Allen, P. Conforti, S. Andreasen, J. Bissell, D. Sepavich, K. Robinson, E. Miller, M. Dacri, N. Veshi.
